GOLD X ANNOUNCES THE APPOINTMENT OF ROBERT FRIEDLAND AS NON-EXECUTIVE CHAIRMAN

June 22, 2020 – Vancouver, British Columbia – Gold X Mining Corp. (TSX-V: GLDX, OTCQX: SSPXF) (“Gold X” or the “Company”) is very pleased to announce the appointment today of Robert Friedland as Non-Executive Chairman of Gold X. Gold X’s current Chairman and Chief Executive Officer, Paul Matysek will relinquish the Chairman role but will remain a director and its CEO.

Paul Matysek commented, “The great Michael Jordan once said, ‘Some people want it to happen, some wish it would happen, others make it happen’. Robert Friedland has crafted a life of success after success and I’m thrilled that he has joined our Board as Chairman to keep making it happen for Gold X and our valued shareholders.”

Mr. Friedland continued, “Paul and I had the pleasure to work together very successfully at Potash One, where I was the Chairman, and which we sold in a friendly transaction for $434-million cash in 2011. Paul’s team is now developing an important gold project in Guyana, a beautiful country of which I am very fond and with which I have had a long experience. Given the state of the financial markets, and the large existing and open-ended geological potential of this project, I am happy to join Paul and his team at Gold X to lend a hand.”

About Robert Friedland

Mr. Friedland is the founder and currently Executive Co-Chairman of Ivanhoe Mines, which is developing three world-scale mines in Southern Africa – Kamao-Kakula, Platreef and Kipushi. Under Mr. Friedland’s leadership, his portfolio companies have raised more than $25 billion of capital that has been invested in more than 30 nations, and led to the discovery and development of some of world’s most significant mineral deposits.

In 1992, Mr. Friedland co-founded Diamond Fields Resources, Inc., which discovered the world-class Voisey’s Bay nickel deposit in Canada and was sold to Inco Ltd. for C$4.3 billion in 1996.
